

Medical Opportunities in Indiana Physician Services Newsletter

June 2009

Greetings,

National healthcare changes are imminent and this issue of the Physician Services newsletter reflects on the topics of the day that will impact our success today and tomorrow. Once a seasonal process, Physician Recruitment activity is a 24/7 type of effort requiring creative solutions to difficult searches. Our programs and staff resources are designed to provide customized support to you. We look forward to talking with you soon.

Welcome, Jodi Schafer!

In April, Jodi Schafer joined the Medical Opportunities staff as the Recruitment Program Coordinator. Jodi's primary work will focus on member customer service and candidate sourcing in all specialties for our online programs including OMI and PSS/CPR+.

Jodi received her BA from Kalamazoo College in secondary education and has over four years experience in Human Resources and Recruiting. Her healthcare background began as a Human Resources Manager for a medical billing company and blossomed into HR consulting for small physician practices in the state of Michigan.

Jodi will be contacting each member throughout the next 12 weeks to introduce herself and launch our Customer Service Program. This program will consist of quarterly contact with each member to review site usage data, verify member and opportunity information and solicit feedback on the usefulness of the OMI site and any recommendations for improvement. We are excited about this new program and view it as an excellent opportunity to touch-base with each member, as well as, introduce Jodi and acclimate her to each of your member profiles.

Jodi can be reached at 517-347-3332 or 800-479-1666 and via email at: Jodi.schafer@mhc.org.

Getting Your Money's Worth - Using the OMI Site to the Fullest (10 Tips)

We at Medical Opportunities want to make your jobs a bit easier! That is why we are continually adding resources and applications to our website(s) to increase your search efficiencies, give you data on workforce demographics, allow you to track and report on ROI, and supply you with a library of resources to aid in your recruiting plans. Whether you are new to our site or have been a long-standing member, we wondered if you knew that...

- 1. You can search for candidates. - I know this may seem like an obvious feature of the site, but you would be surprised at how under-utilized this utility is by some of our members. In addition to posting opportunities for candidates to view, you also have the capability to search out candidates to market your opportunities to. You can search candidates using a variety of criteria. The fewer criteria you enter in the search engine, the broader your results will be. Keep in mind that your search results will only yield "public" candidates. More on this in #4. Search results will yield candidate names whose profile information matches your search criteria. Along with their name, you will receive a brief synopsis of their profile for quick viewing.
- 2. You can save time by reviewing only newly registered candidates. - If you are actively working the candidate database (and we hope that you are!) you can prevent yourself from sifting through candidates that you have already viewed. Simply use the "Candidates Registered Since" field in the search engine to enter the date range since your last search. This will result in candidates who meet your search criteria AND who have registered on the site since your last visit, thus saving you valuable time!
- 3. You can send broadcast emails to candidates. - That's right! If you are not using this function, you are missing out on a quick, easy and effective way of getting your opportunity in front of qualified candidates. This application is available from the candidate search result screen. You can choose to email all or some of the candidates that met your search criteria in one fell swoop! Your email message can simply restate the opportunity available or you can use this function to further promote your facility/practice and location.
- 4. You cannot view all candidates who are registered on the system. - Sad, but true. When candidates register their profile information with our sites, they have the option of making their information "public" or "private". In other words, if they choose to keep

MEDICAL OPPORTUNITIES HAS BEEN EXHIBITING FOR YOU!

Since January, Medical Opportunities has been exhibiting at the following meetings representing your opportunities!

January:

29th Career MD Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, PA

their profile and CV private, they will be able to see you, but you can't see them. If a private candidate is interested in an opportunity you have posted, they can express their interest and share their contact information with you through the "manual match" process. This is the only way you will be able to view private candidates' information. This is why it is important for members to post all open searches on the site. You never know who might be looking at them!

5. You do not have to start from scratch when you want to post a new opportunity. - When opportunities are no longer open, simply change their status from "online" to "offline". Moving an opportunity offline will save that posting information in the Offline Opportunities page, where candidates cannot access it. When a new opportunity needs to be posted, simply open an old opportunity that was moved offline and use it as a template. Edit the opportunity to reflect the current position requirements and move it back online for candidates to view. Moving opportunities online and offline, versus adding and deleting them, will prevent you from starting from scratch with each new posting or change.
